FARMERS, READ THIS!

Buckeye

Mower and Reaper!

Again Triumphant!

This extensively known, and deservedly popular Machine was submitted to the most vigorous test of its superiority, at a trial of competing machines that took place under the management of the New York Society, at Auburn, N. Y., in July 1866. The committee consisted of eleven judges, and forty machines were entered as contestants for the prize.—The trial lasted three weeks and the tests were most thorough. The result was announced at the State Fair held at Saratoga on the 12th of Sept. last, and the

GRAND GOLD MEDAL

was then awarded the

Buckeye

as the machine

Superior to All Others.

A similar testimony was awarded it in the same State, in 1865. This machine is regarded by the thousands who can speak from experience, as the Best in the World, and is manufactured by the incorporated Company of

C. AULTMAN & CO.

Canton, O.

Persons wanting any of these machines, can have them by applying to the undersigned, who is the Agent for Beaver county.

Fallston Foundry!

ENGINE & REPAIR SHOP,

In Fallston Beaver County, Pa.

HAVING refitted and enlarged my stock of machinery and tools, and having secured the services of the best of mechanics, I am prepared to warrant all work done to give entire satisfaction. I have on hand different patterns and styles of Engines, Fire Clay Rolls, and am prepared to make or repair all descriptions of machinery, on reasonable terms.

Plows and Plow Castings.

I have all the best plow patterns that suit this market, among which is the "Great Western," which has been THE plow of the county for the last fifteen years. There are five sizes of this plow, all of which I manufacture and keep for sale; also "Patent Lever"—right and left—"Mountain King."—right and left—"Side Hill," and nearly all the different kinds in use.

Cooking, Franklin and Heating Stoves.

Having made several important improvements on the "Climax," by which coal or wood can supplied without lifting lids, and having two places for pipe, either or both of which can be used at the same time, with a ventilation to the oven, thus having the advantages of a Cooking Stove, Bake Oven and Franklin Stove combined. This stove has been in constant use for twenty years, and many of them after being used for this period of time, are now in good order. There is but a small portion of this stove that ever burns out, and this is easily and cheaply replaced. To make them still more lasting, we are now putting in tile or fire brick lining. Our other patterns are the Enterprise, Keystone and Premium. Parlor stoves, large and small heating stoves, Franklin stoves, Jenny Lind's, &c. Grate and Grate Fronts, Fenders, Iron Railing of various styles, Wagon Boxes, two Irons, Tire Benders, Corn Shellers, Force and Cistern Pumps, Sad Irons, Metal Sinks for kitchen, Sheet Iron and Tin ware, always on hand and made to order. In fact, I manufacture and keep for sale, almost everything wanted in the machinery or hardware line.

Second-hand stoves always for sale cheap. Two good new engines, suitable for sam-mill or shop purposes now on hand, and will be sold reasonable.

TWO OR THREE VEINS OF COAL, from 2 to 4 feet in thickness.

The neighborhood is good. Schools and Churches are convenient, and there is an excellent market at Enon Station.

If not sold before, the whole or 25 acres of the farm will be offered at Public Sale on Saturday, the 15th day of June, at 1 o'clock p. m. Title indisputable. Apply to J. I REED, Enon Valley, Pa.

POETICAL.

A Lesson for Teachers.

I saw a child, nine four years old,
Alone, a truant stray;
Alone the while, unshocked, untold,
How hard the world away.

The great expanse of earth and sky,
Now opened out, now proceeded;
Still, valley, [illegible] passed them by [illegible] unheeded.

And near and [illegible] of roses bright
In [illegible] found her;
Yet no [illegible] with footsteps light,
Still [illegible] found her.

And [illegible], and now she stooped,
And [illegible] flower,
And [illegible] that drooped
With [illegible]

The [illegible] the little gem,
And [illegible] it;
And [illegible] the fragile stem,
And [illegible] caressed it.

I love to read a lesson true,
From Nature's open book,
And oft I learn a lesson new
From childhood's careless look.

Children are simple—loving—true;
'Tis Heaven that made them so;
And would you teach them, be so too,
And stoop to what they know.

Begin with simple lessons, things
On which they love to look;
Flowers, pebbles, insects, birds on wings,
These are God's spelling book.

And children know his A B C
As bees where flowers are set;
Would thou a skillful teacher be?
Learn, then this alphabet.

From leaf to leaf, from page to page,
Guide thou thy pupil's look,
And when he says, with aspect sage,
Who made this wondrous work!

Point thou with reverent gaze to Heaven,
And kneel in earnest prayer;
That lesson thou hast humbly given
May lead thy pupil there.

Miscellaneous.

Judge Underwood's Charge.

The United States Circuit Court met at Richmond on the 6th inst. The Grand Jury was sworn, and John Minor Botts made foreman. Judge Underwood then delivered the following charge to the jury:

GENTLEMEN OF THE GRAND JURY: The circumstances surrounding us demand devout thanksgiving of almighty God that we, the friends and representatives of the Government of the United States, who last year were threatened with destruction and hunted by assassins in this city for attempting to execute the laws of our country, can now meet in conscious security under the wings of the starry banner which our patriotic Congress has raised for our protection: that we are permitted to meet in this building of everlasting granite, so emblematic of the power and strength of our Government, standing alone and unharmed amid the great conflagration that swept as with a besom of destruction all around it. And what solemn associations are suggested by reflecting that in the very rooms we now occupy, dwelt the fiery soul of treason, rebellion, and civil waf. and thence issued that fell spirit which starved, by wholesale, prisoners for the crime of defending the flag of our common country, assassinated soldiers for their noble and trusting labors in behalf of a Government that had as yet only promised them protection; burned towns and cities with a barbarity unknown to Christian countries, scattered yellow fever and small pox among the poor and helpless, and finally struck down one of earth's noblest martyrs to freedom and humanity.—Another subject of thanksgiving is presented in the very constitution of your body, furnishing ocular evidence that the age of lust and clas cruelty is departed, and the new era of equality and justice breaking through the clouds of persecution and prejudice is now dawning upon us; and strangest of all, that this city of Richmond, the beautiful and abandoned seat of the Rebellion, looking as comely and specious as a goodly apple or a gilded sepulchre, where bloody treason flourished its whip of scorpions. Richmond, where the slave-trade so long held high carnival; where the press has found the lowest depths of profligacy; where licentiousness has ruled until probably a majority of births were illegitimate or without the forms of law, where the fashionable and popular pulpit has been so prostrated that its full-fed ministers gravely Lotharios generally recommended the worship of what they most respected—pleasure, property, and power—corresponding to the pagan and mythological ideas of Bacchus, Mammon and Mars—

Gods brutal, partial, passionate, unjust,
Whose attributes were rage, revenge and lust.

It was as if the fiends prevailed
Against the seraphs they assailed;
And fixed on Heavenly thrones should dwell,
The free inheritors of hell.
So formed for joy,
So cursed the causes that destroy

But we are reminded that where sin abounded grace may much more abound, and in the light of recent changes may we not hope a material and moral future for this city of Richmond in stronger contrast with its awful and athaistic past, and in harmony with the salubrity of its climate, the poetic beauty of its scenery, and the magnificence of its water powers? I have sometimes feared that by the usages of this State, which has given the selection of jurors to the Sheriffs and Marshals, or in professional language, have packed jurors instead of drawing them from a box of names selected by other officers, as is done in most of the States, there was danger of getting indifferent persons upon the panel, but the care and rare judgement which our Marshals have always shown in their selections prove my fears unfounded, and I am truly gratified to find so many gentlemen of public and private worth upon the present jury. We so often hear from treasonable sources around us of cruel acts passed by Congress since the beginning of the war; acts which we are called upon to enforce; that it is well, perhaps, for one moment to consider the utter falsehood of such charges, and to find on examination the unparalleled clemency and forbearance of the victorious Government, which, but for the cost of the Rebellion, would now be felt only in its protection and its blessing. While it has heretofore been the common law of all nations, our own incltded, to punish treason by death, it was reserved for the American Congress, in the midst of a gigantic rebellion, on the 17th day of July 1862, to reduce that punishment if the courts would see fit, to fine and imprisonment.—Again, it has been the usage of all nations, in peace as well as in war, to make the wrong-doer, even in the most trivial trespasses, respond out of his property to the full amount of the damages he has committed, a practice and usage of victorious governments in all ordinary wars; and yet we have seen a patriot statesman, venerable alike for his age and for the blessings, education, culture, and improvements he has conferred upon his State and country, a statesman greatly eminent among his fellow legislators, and by common consent of successive Congresses, acknowledged as a leader and father, with a deference that neither Clay, Fox, Paine, the Pitts, nor even Cicero had ever known—this noble man we have seen assailed with a bitterness and falsehood peculiar to the authors and leaders of the rebellions, its pimps and apologists. And for what? Why, for proposing that a few of those who had been chiefly instrumental in filling the land with woe and mourning, and debt and taxation, and who, like the late Secretary of the Rebel finances, had made millions by blockade-running, and by speculating upon the general distress, should out of their princely estate contribute one-tenth of the damages they had done and at the same time expressly exempting from penalty all the great masses of those who had been drawn in to the late war. This humane statesman also proposes not to punish any with that extreme rigor usual in civil wars, and not even to the extent exacted by every European nation in ordinary foreign wars. Was such moderation and clemency ever before so abused and insulted! May this grandest old statesman of our country and age; this honor to humanity and light among the nations, still continue to live notwithstanding the advance of years and disease, and may we yet be guided by his wisdom and beneficence until the great question now pending shall be decided in the interest of peace, progress, and freedom. I regret, gentlemen, that I cannot encourage you with the hope of a short or light session, as I am informed by the District Attorney that your labors may be considerable. The unmitigated disloyalty which animates so large a portion of our newspaper press in this State, is producing such effect upon the public morals, especially in creating a disposition by frauds and perjury to escape taxation necessary for the support of the Government, in encouraging the circulation of counterfeit money, and it is to be feared the anxiety to vote at the approaching elections by persons engaged in the late Rebellion, is about to produce an immense amount of labor, for our Grand Juries on this subject may have occasion to address you more at length on a future occasion. Your attention is particularly called to an abuse which had assumed an alarming aspect in this city as a relic of the old barbarism of slavery; I mean the brutal rejection of a great laboring and useful class of the people from the street cars, under the act of Congress commonly called the Civil Rights bill. There is an undoubted remedy for such outrages. Chartered transportation companies owe impartial duties to the public, and the gross wrongs complained of deserve your indignant reprobation. I know the matter has been arranged by the Commanding General with his usual great prudence and judgement, but it is from its nature a mere temporary settlement, and needs confirmation by the legal sanction of courts and juries. I only ask that you add your weight to what has been so well and wisely done by the Generai. If any of your number know of any violation of law, it s your duty to report to the body which should be always 16 in number, and the assent of 12 is required to find a true bill.

Senator Wilson in the South.

Senator Wilson left Charleston for Savannah on Saturday morning, but after getting out to sea the boat had to put back on account of a severe storm. General Sickles, General Scott and many of the prominent citizens have paid him all due attention. He abandons his contemplated visit to Beaufort and Savannah, and has gone to Augusta. From there he goes to Montgomery, thence to Mobile, thence to New Orleans, and from there he ascends the Mississippi. He purposes speaking at various points in Tennesse and Kentucky on his way north.

In his second speech in Charleston on Friday night, Mr. Wilson referred to the intimations which are being made, that colored men who vote with the Republican party may lose employment and be turned out of their cabins and holdings, and he said that would be the first act towards confiscation, if it should take place. He thought it very likely that Congress would regard it as a violation of the reconstruction law, which contemplates the free exercise of manhood suffrage, and would confiscate the property of men so offending. He himself would support such a measure; but if the reconstruction act was carried out fairly and impartially, and proper persons were chosen as Senators and Representatives, he believed the rebel States would be readmitted, that no measure of confiscation would be resorted to.

[Correspondence of the New York Citizen.]

A Washington Charmer.

WASHINGTON, April 4, 1867

Perhaps you think that because the Fortieth Congress has adjourned, we have nothing of interest to write about here. If so you are, in the language of the Ubett tribes of the Pacific States, "sucked in and likewise deceived," for we have cords upon cords of facts yet unwritten, regarding the ins and outs of that body, and I propose this week to give you another lobby view.

To this city there came from St. Louis a lady, whose robust figure was without coarseness, and attracted the gaze of the sternest and most uncompromising of our legislators, by its voluptuous appearance. Her face was strongly marked, yet beautiful, except to those who admire women for a lack of intelligent expression, or a doll-like placidity of features. Her chin protruded firmly and sweetly dimpled, while above it pouted two cherry-ripe lips. Her nose was exquisitely turned to the most excruciatingly fine compromise between sensuality and states woman-like-abnegation of worldliness. Her cheeks, round and plump, were always colored with the fresh pink blush of health, and her cheek bones were just prominent enough to dimple them bewitchingly. Her eyes, surmounted by brows as closely penciled and delicately arched as any artist could desire' were twinkling and laughing brilliants, sharp and piercing orbits, lusclous hazel brown in color, and they spoke volumes of seductive persuasiveness, or replied with the adamantine imperviousness of an iron-clad. She weighed about one hundred and sixty pounds, and dressed in a close-fitting basquine, and many were the members to be found basking in the sunlight of her delicious smiles. Black silk was the material of the basque, corded, fluted, fricaseed, riggled and thingumbobbed with a confusing profusion of jet pendants and bugles, which rattled and jiggled as, with the stateliness of a queen, she walked through the corridors of the Capitol, commanding the admiration and successfully demanding obsequious service of all with whom she came in contact. Her voice was like the warbling of the morning lark, or solemnly plaintive like the song of the dying swan, and she was an eloquent elocutionist, understanding to perfection the gesticulations of an orator, or the overpowering and conscience-soothing little pitty-pats-with-her-delicate-hands-on-your-coat-collar, of a coaxing wheedling, befuddling little angel. She was spare in the use of jewelry, and yet wore rings, chains and diamonds enough to add an air of reckless plentitude to her regal presence. Dost like the ambrotype?

It is not colored; it is painted true to life, and it is only necessary to add, that it may be complete, the fact that she was accompanied by a humble, red-whiskered connubial convenience known in common parlance as a husband. He was an insidious seeker after new acquaintances, at the same time being careful not to know any one but judges, generals, honorables, and people of the "bontonish" kind. He made it a rule to clasp with both of his flippers the profound paw of any distinguished person that he might be introduced to, and without further palaver invite all such to her rooms. "Would be glad to have you meet my wife sir," he said, and accordingly the flies were dragged into the web. The lady received them courteously, and, being remarkably well-informed, was never at fault in her attempts to enlist their immediate attention, for she always knew something of their previous political or military history, and seldom failed in making an apropos compliment. "I recollect you, sir," she said to all of them, "and ever since you did so and so I have longed to know you." Who could resist such insidious flattery? The flies buzzed their wings in the web, not in vain attempts to free themselves, but with a burning desire to get more and more entangled in its meshes. Is there one so blind as not to foresee the result? Is it necessary that I should add that the influence of the buzzed flies, before they were driven from the web, were pledged to anything that the fair enchantress desired?—Know from this that she was a most successful lobbyess.

The Iron-clad Relief Bill was a bugbear in the Thirty-ninth Congress, including in its provisions appropriations of millions of dollars in payment of claims of contractors who had lost money in building iron-clads for the Government. Some of the claims were just, and others were swindles: but the just and the unjust were served alike, and the bill was lost, only to be revived by piecemeal in the Fortieth Congress. The first successful piece thus revived was the claim of Bryan, Secor & Co., for the erection of the iron-clad Comanche. It may have been a just claim, and I think it was; but I am not mistaken when I say it was rushed through both Houses in double-quick time, and that the propelling power used in pushing it through was the lobbyess above referred to. It amounted to nearly two hundred thousand dollars, and she was well paid for her trouble. If trouble you may call it. Day after day, when it was pending in the House, she sat in the Diplomatic Gallery, and watched it in its various stages of parliamentary progress, and each day some new advocate—some times a deserter from the ranks of its opponents—thundered eloquently in its behalf, and immediately when he rose to talk, the cynical occupants of the reporter's gallery would whisper mysteriously, "He has seen the spider in the black basque." Stern, sober, corrugated, shrivelled old man voted for it, and when it passed rushed up stairs to the corridor in the rear of the galleries, there to receive the thanks of the spider, and I spied her thanking them, her face beaming with smiles, her delicate gloved hand patting them approvingly on the shoulder, some of which not long since bore the epaulettes of high rank in the army. In the Senate she watched it in the same manner, smiling approvingly as one after another of the bald-headed, old Senators spoke for it or voted for it.

It was a grand sight, and only goes to show what we men can do when the women vote.—I long for that millenium when I shall sit in the galleries and wink and blink and nod and smile at somebodys else's wife as she votes for a bill that I may be "lobbying through."—My wife, you know, will coax other people's wives into my web, and I'll secure their influence for my bill. Then I'll "divy" with my wife and she'll "go for another job," and we'll wax strong in the pocket-book. It's good paying business, this lobbying, and no lobby is so successful as one comprised of the sex excluded from the privilege of voting.—So you see that in view of my general "get up," I can't help but wish that the women of America may soon be enfranchised, so that I can establish myself in my proper sphere as a "pretty lobby-member." A Romance of Crime.

BLANDVILLE, BALLARD CO., KY., April 22, 1867.

The usual quiet of this little village has been disturbed by an incident of great moment to us, and which forcibly illustrates the old saying that "murder will out," and "a woman cannot keep a secret." About eleven years ago, there came to this county, and settled about five miles from this town, a man named Hudson, of South Carolina, in which State he b andoned his wife and three children. One of his neighbors, named Belcher, was the father of two buxom daughters, between the younger of whom, aged fifteen, and Hudson, there sprang up an intimacy, which resulted in the seduction of the girl. Nine years ago this month Hudson committed suicide, and was found in the garret of his house, hanging by neck, his knees touching the floor. He must have committed the deed some four or five days before his body was discovered, as the remains had commenced to decay, and one side of the face and ear were much eaten away by the cats. A coroner's inquest was held over the body, and a verdict of suicide returned. One of the jurors, however, noticed something like a piece of iron in the ear of the deceased, but did not examine it very minutely, nor did he mention the fact for some time after.

The young Belcher girl married a man named McNabb, with whom she has since lived very happily, notwithstanding she became a mother in a few months after being married. The family prospered. The elder sister likewise married and was much respected, none of the neighbors having aught to say against either of the girls. But there was a skeleton in both households, and the sisters, as they plodded along the journey of life, were continually harassed by fears and doubts, each striving in vain to allay the visions which haunted their minds.

A few weeks since, during a fit of despondency, the younger sister divulged to a neighbor the terrible secret which had so long been upon her conscience and made her life a torment: it was that herself, with her sister and husband, had murdered Hudson! Her story was, that in company with McNabb, whom she afterwards married, and her eldest sister, she called upon Hudson and telling him of her situation, upbraided him with her betrayal. Hudson attempted to laugh away the affair, and for the first time informed her of his being a married man. This incensed both the sisters and McNbab, all of whom commenced an assault upon Hudson, as had been previously agreed upon in case he refused to render justice to the girl he had so foully wronged.—Hudson was easily overpowered, and killed by driving into his ear a portion of the iron spindle belonging to a spinning-wheel. After the murder was accomplished, the body was taken to the loft of the cabin, and left hanging by the neck, as it was found several days thereafter.

The woman to whom this fearful secret was imparted divulged the facts before the grand jury at the present term of the Circuit Court, who at once found a bill against McNabb, his wife and sister-in-law, and yesterday the parties were arrested, brought to this town, and placed in jail.

The women are decidedly good looking, but their countenances seem to indicate that they have no hope.

A. H. Stephens, the Rebel V. P.

A. H. Stephens is little seen or heard of. He is at his home at Crawfordsville, on the road between here and Augusta, practicing law. His views on the reconstruction question are not known. They have been repeatedly given, but not having orginated from himself, have been as repeatedly contradicted. I heard something recently in connection with the election of Mr. Stephens to the United States Senate which I have not seen in print, and which I think ought to be published, in justice to the President; for if poor Andy doesn't need a little justice, who does? It is this:—Mr. Stephens, as is well known; did not desire to be elected. He told his friends so; but they urged it upon him. General Jim Steedman was the man who had most to do with it. He happened to be in the interior of Georgia at the time in a military command. I think—and took great interest in the matter—representing the views, no doubt, of the Northern War Democracy, with which he acted politically. Steedman telegraphed to Johnson to know if it would be advisable to elect Stephens. The President replied very decidedly in the negative saying that Mr. Stephens was on parole, and ought not to meddle in politics at all. His advice was not taken, and Stephens was elected. It will be remembered that many Radical papers of the North accused Mr. Johnson of aiding in the election of Stephens, and spoke of it as an insult to the North, etc. What I state here I have from a man who has in his possession the correspondence that passed between Steedman and the President.—Atlanta Cor. Cin. Com.

THE man who can demand advice is often superior to him who can give it.

THE BEAVER ARGUS.

J. WEYAND,
EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.

MAY 15, 1867.

The editor being absent accounts for our lack of local and general editorial this week

Wendell Phillips and Parker Pillsbury are both doing their utmost to bring Senator Wilson and his mission to the Southern States into disrepute. They omit no opportunity to speak disparagingly of the movement to build up a Union party in the rebel States, but notwithstanding their opposition the work goes bravely on."

Judge Kelley of this State arrived at New Orleans on Thursday last, from which point he commenced his stumping tour through the Southern States. He was welcomed to the city by the Mayor, Council, and a large body of citizens. Being an effective speaker, a zealous Unionist, and well informed on all political questions of the day, his canvass will undoubtedly accomplish much good among the people he addresses.

A Special Dispatch to the Pittsburgh Commercial, dated Richmond, May 13, says that Jeff. Davis has been released on giving $100,000 bail for trial at the next term of Court.—Among his bondsmen are Horace Greeley, Chas. O'Conner, Aug. Schell, and John Minor Botts. It is said that after sojourning in Richmond a short time, Davis will proceed to Niagara Falls for his health.

Columbus Delano (Rep.) of Ohio was cheated out of a certificate of election to Congress last fall in the Zanesville district. He gave notice at once of a determination to contest for the seat. The testimony is now being taken, and the Zanesville Courier of the 6th speaks thus of the result: The taking of the testimony of the Delano-Morgan contest has progressed far enough to assure the result.—A majority of the legal votes cast in the Thirteenth District last fall were cast by Union men, and Hon. Columbus Delano was fairly re-elected to Congress. This is already proven by the evidence taken, and plenty of votes to spare.

The Democracy of Allegheny county met in Convention at Pittsburgh, on Wednesday last and selected their delegates to attend a State Convention of their party at Harrisburg on the 11th of June. After these were selected, a resolution recommending Hon. Walter H. Lowrie as the candidate of the party for the Supreme Judgeship of the State, was unanimously adopted. Mr. L., has been on the Supreme Bench already, but will hardly make the nomination of his party much less an election again. If Judge Woodward is not renominated, Judge Sharswood of Philadelphia will be the Democratic candidate for that position. At least such are the "surface indications" at the present time.

Some base ruffian has invented a paragraph about Randall (P. M. G.) resigning. This statement is promptly denied by an anxious correspondent. We are assured that the story that Randall has resigned, or ever contemplated resigning, or ever intimated that in any possible contingency he would resign, is false. The assurance is scarcely necessary. We believe in Randall. He will hold to an office as long as any member of the Johnson party, which is saying a great deal. He may die—which Heaven forbid—he may be chosen to a higher place, which the people forbid—but he will never resign. If any of our anxious politicians hope to get into Randall's shoes, let them be patient, and wait. With office-holders like Randall it is only a question of time—but still it is a question of time.—N. Y. Tribune.

The State Rights Democrats carried Kentucky in the election of Saturday. Their popular majority is probably less than last year but only because the vote is lighter. Several of their candidates had been in the Rebel army; nearly every one had notoriously sympathized with the Rebellion. There will be some hard swearing required to seat their delegation in Congress; but Kentucky is still pro-Slavery, then why should she not be pro-Rebel? Her voters are intent on keeping the negroe under foot; so they uphold the Rebel Democracy as the surest straightest road to their end. They may not be remarkably loyal, humane, nor farseeing but they know what they want, and vote the only ticket that promises to secure it.—N. Y. Tribune

A few of the colored people of Paris Tennessee, were quietly dancing a few evenings since, when ten White men rushed into the house, drove out the surprised, unarmed Black men, and ravished the women, one of whom was so injured by their ruffanism that she must die. Eight of the White miscreants have been arrested and are now in custody. We shall watch very closely the legal proceedings with regard to them. A gross outrage may be committed anywhere, and by Whites or Blacks; but the law bears down on some people as it does not on others. Ten years ago, this hideous crime might have been perpetrated in any Southern State with perfect impunity. Now, we trust, it may not be, thanks to Emancipation and the Civil Rights act. As our sometime friend Emerson Etheridge, Conservative candidate for Governor of Tennessee on the platform of "Universal Amnesty, Impartial Suffrage," lives at Paris, we look to him to take care that these ravishers are so dealt with that they will conclude not to do so again.—N. Y. Tribune.

A correspondent of the New York Herald, who is playing the part of Jenkins for Mr. Seward, at Auburn, says that the present return home of the Secretary is only preliminary to his retirement from public life. As he is now sixty-six years old, he feels that the time has about arrived for him to seek quiet and seclusion. In private circles he is very enthusiastic over his recent achievement in securing for Uncle Sam the Russian American territory, whose possession he deems a crowning triumph of his diplomic career, the benefits of which, though now involved in obscurity, will, he claims, become of incalculable value at a not very remote period.

Governor Pierpont has appointed John Oliver, a colored man of Richmond, a notary public for the city of Richmond and county of Henrico. He is a man of respectability and intelligence, and is the first colored man ever appointed to such an office.

Hole-in-the-day, the celebrated Chippewa chief, has married a white domestic of a hotel in Washington City. Mrs Hole-in-the-day is a young lady of modest and intelligent appearance. Her royal husband does not design to take her to his harem of half-dozen or more Indian wives, but designs living in St. Cloud, Minn., in the style and manner of "White folks."

The colored people of Baltimore presented the widow of Hon. Henry Winter Davis a full length portrait of her deceased husband as a tribute of their gratitude to his memory for services rendered their race in helping them to freedom.

Education in Virginia.—The Legislature of Virginia has done a good thing in appropriating $80,000 for the education of white and black children. Considering that this is done by a State where it was an offense three years ago to teach a slave to read, and where the condition of the free blacks was hardly any better, it indicates a glorious advance of public sentiment. It is also an act of wisdom.

Congressman Kelley, of Pennsylvania, instead of following Senator Wilson in his campaign through the South, is to proceed directly to New Orleans, and commence there to make a Radical speech, making a tour through Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Northern Georgia and Tennessee. Senator Stewart, of Nevada, will go to Mississippi, where he proposes to address the white and colored people in reference to their duty under the Reconstruction act.

A Congressional inquiry into the facts connected with the capture of Jeff. Davis fully confirmed the report that he was disguised in female garments when taken. He had on a lady's water-proof cloak, gathered at the waist and a shawl drawn over his head. He carried a tin pail upon his head, as if going for water. A pair of top-boots, which the cloak did not hide, betrayed him.

We believe in our soul that the whole party of ex rebels have quaked more in their souls at the probable testimony as to Jeff's disguise when captured, than at the idea of having the old traitor hung. How are you chivalry?

The Situation in Maryland.

Political movements in Maryland are becoming decidedly interesting. The Democratic element—the same that sympathized with the rebellion down to its close, have resolved to hold a State Convention to accomplish its object, through a remodeling of the State Constitution. The Union people of the State have called another convention which will meet on the 14th instant. to invoke the popular loyal will; and it will appeal to Congress to protect the loyal masses. The enfranchisement of the colored citizens will be boldly proclaimed and demanded. On this interesting subject the Baltimore American says:

"It is but the renewal of the old conflict in a new form. It has to be met, and we have the right to demand of the General Government the necessary weapon to meet it. Some twenty-five or thirty thousand law-abiding men who were with us during the war, and are so still, are kept from our ranks. This is an element of strength and a certainty of success, which the Congress of the United States ought to give us, and that, too, before, and not after the conflict.

"Should the Congress meet in July, we can certainly ask them, not for military interference, but the enactment of a law which will bring out the vote upon a question of importance, equally vital to us and to the country at large.

"It will be the duty of the Convention which meets on the 14th inst., to consider the matter, and appoint a committee to open a correspondence with every Republican member of Congress, calling his special attention to the condition of our affairs and urging that body to enable us to fight our own battles by giving us the proper instruments of warfare—he votes of Union and loyal men, without distinction of color."

List of Nominations and Rejections

Washington, May 10, 1867

A list of the nominations made by the President and rejected by the Senate during the special session of the Fortieth Congress has just been completed. It was printed for the confidential use of the Senate, but a copy has leaked out. The following are the number rejected for the positions named: Postmasters, 113; Collectors and Assessors of Revenue, 57; Surveyors of Customs, 13; Collectors of Custom. 5; Naval Officers, 5; Indian Agents, 2; Public Lands, 4; Pension Agents, 3; Consuls, 2; Consul Generals, 3; Minister to Austria. 2 There were twenty-six nominations made which were neither confirmed nor rejected, but were laid over. The most prominent of this number are Raymond for Austria, Capron for Agricultural Bureau, Sidney Howard Gay for Assessor in New York city, and C. S. Franklin for Naval Officer for New York. At the regular session of the Senate for the Fortieth Congress, the following is the number rejected: Postmasters, 109; Collectors and Assessors, 58; Austrian mission, 2; Pension Agents, 5. During the session of the Senate for the Thirty-Ninth Congress the following were rejected: Postmasters, 96; Collectors, 83; Collectors of Custom, 22, Postmasters, 108.

Military Activity in France and Prussia.

New York, May 10.—The Herald's Paris correspondence, referring to war preparations of France, says: The military scenes witnessed in the streets of Paris, moving of artillery, guns, gun carriges and munitions were similar to those seen just previous to the Crimean and war and Italian campaigns.

The Herald's Berlin correspondent says:—Prussia made her preparations steadily and without any noise or excitement as in France, but on a very extensive scale. Orders for the mobilization of the Guards and the Eighth, Ninth, Tenth and Eleventh Army Corps were made.

Mr. Geo, Peabody is to be paid the rare compliment of having a statute erected to his honor in London during his life time. He is to be placed in the open space in the rear of the Merchants Exchange, and the subscriptionlist is headed by the Prince of Wales.

Organization of the Beaver Co. Sunday School Association.

A Convention of the friends of the Sabbath School cause, in Beaver Co. was held in the Presbyterian Church, Beaver, Pa., on Thursday, May 2nd, 1867. The attendance at the Convention was quite large, although it was much regretted that many Churches and Sabbath Schools throughout the county were unrepresented.

At 10 o'clock the Convention was organized by calling Capt. Gillis to preside, who called upon Rev. Shields to open the proceedings with prayer.

Mr. J. M. Smith was appointed Secretary.

John F. Dravo, Esq., then stated the object of the meeting.

Rev. D. P. Lowary, of Beaver moved that a committee be appointed on permanent organization. The motion was adopted, and Rev's Lowary, Bracken, Shields, Glenn, and Mr. Hunter were appointed.

A Committee on Business was then appointed, consisting of Messrs. Dravo, Smith, Fields, Misses Leech, Alexander and Ledlie.

Mr. J. E. Gilbert, of Buffalo, N. Y., editor of the Sunday School Standard, was introduced, and delivered an entertaining address on the History of the Sunday School Movement. He said that the Sunday School may be briefly defined as the Church reaching after the children, and its history as the Church's effort to gather the children into her bosom and nurture them for immortality. The instruction of children in the anti-Messianic Jewish Church bears a strong resemblance to our present Sunday School work. During the first century and the greater part of the second century of Christianity, there is no history of any religious movements corresponding to that of Sunday Schools; but that near the close of the second century, schools for the religious instruction of children were revived; and that before the close of the fifth century, they had become almost universal in the Church. The schools had arrived at a greater degree of perfection than we of the nineteenth century are disposed to give credence—they were systematically managed, graded, and classified. From the sixth to the sixteenth century there was a gradual decadence and disappearance of Sunday Schools and also of the preaching of the Gospel throughout Christendom. But after this long, gloomy night, a bright sunrise arose; and among the many changes and reformations of the sixteenth century, it brought the dawn of another period of Sunday Schools. The speaker then briefly sketched the various movements, organizations, and societies, that have been in the interest of the Sunday School cause up to the present time; and then added that to-day two continents behold with mingled feelings of pride and astonishment the vast proportions which the Sunday Schools have assumed. To foster the Sunday School is the primary duty of the Church; and to carry forward this work successfully, the Church must devote abundantly of her means, the choicest of her talent and piety, and her prayers to the Head of the Church for his blessing.

The Convention adjourned until the afternoon.

Afternoon Session.—At two o'clock the Convention re-assembled. Prayer was offered by Rev. J. D. Glenn.

The Committee reported the following Constitution of the Beaver County Sunday School Association, which was received and adopted.

Art. 1. This Society shall be called the Beaver Co. Sunday School Association, auxiliary to the Western Pennsylvania S. S. Association.

Art. 2. All Sunday School teachers, pastors, and friends of Sunday Schools shall be members of this Association by attending its regular meetings.

Art. 3. The officers of this Society shall be a President, Vice President, Corresponding Sec'y, Recording Sec'y, and Treasurer, elected by a two-thirds vote at the annual meeting. Vacancies in any office may be filled by the Executive Committee. The President, Secretaries and Treasurer, with five other persons, shall constitute an Executive Committee, having full control of this Society, in all matters not herein provided.

Art. 4. The annual meeting of this Society shall be held in the month of October in each year.

Art. 5. These articles may be altered or amended at any annual meeting by a two-thirds vote.

The Committee on permanent organization reported the following gentlemen as permanent officers of the Association, who were unanimously elected.

President—John F. Dravo, Esq.

Vice Presidents—James Fife, Esq., U. P. Church; Rev. Mr. Peck, Lutheran; Dr. Shallenberger, Baptist; Henry Reeves, Esq., Methodist; Henry Hice, Esq., Presbyterian, Capt. Campbell, M. E. Church; Dr. G. N Nippert, Church of God; Hon. B. B. Chamberlin, Episcopal.

Corresponding Sec'y—Rev. D. P. Lowary, Beaver, Pa.

Recording Sec'y—Geo. M. F. Fields.

Treasurer—Walter Dunlap.

John F. Dravo, Esq., President elect, assumed the duties of his office, having made a vigorous and well-timed Inaugural address.

The Business Committee presented the following programme, as subject matter, for discussion, during the afternoon session—1 Difficulties encountered by teaches in instructing classes in the Sabbath Schools; 2 School Departments, 3 Programme.

Mr. Gilbert was chosen conductor of the exercises.

Under the first topic the following were presented by members of the Association—Want of co-operation by adult members of the Church; Want of competent teachers and officers; Aimless teaching; Non-preparation of lessons on the part of Scholars; Securing attention.

Under the second topic, namely, School Departments, a variety of opinions was advanced as to the name and number of Departments there should be in the Sabbath School. The Conductor was favorable to three, designated by the name of Infant, Junior and Senior.

After discussing the third topic at some length, the Convention adjourned until 8 o'clock P. M

Evening Session.—President Dravo in the chair, who called upon Mr. Smith to open the exercises with prayer.

The Business Committee presented the annexed programme for the exercises of the evening:—1 Qualification of Teachers, by Rev. B. C. Critchlow. 2 Necessary Qualifications of Sabbath School Teachers, by Mr. C. [illegible] 3 Duties of Sabbath School Teachers, by Rev. J. D. Glenn. 4 Necessary preparation of Teachers, by Rev. J. Gillis.

Rev. Critchlow, remarked that teachers should be personal friends of Jesus, and that none others should be permitted to engage in this work. So long as Sabbath Schools are conducted by godless teachers it should not be a matter of surprise that there are so few conversions among the children. He believed that children at a very early age may become the subjects of divine grace, and attributed to this fact the reason why so many godly persons are at a loss to state the particular time when they experienced a change of heart. The result of right-minded teaching by men and women of prayer, is conversion of souls. It is, therefore, the duty of pastors and officers of schools to pray that the Lord of the harvest would send laborers into the field who fear God and love His commandments. It should be a voluntary work on the part of him who would engage in Sabbath School teaching—a sincere and honest desire to do the master's work. Superintendents and pastors should select teachers from the Church—select those who have arrived at the age of maturity—the fathers and mothers—rather than the young boys and misses of the community. Teachers taking scholars under their care should recognize little children as immortal beings; those whom they are preparing, if successful by the blessing of God, for eternal happiness beyond the skies—a seraphic glory—or if unsuccessful, the blackness of darkness forever. Teachers faithful and impressed with the responsibilities of their position, are a valuable auxiliary to the minister in indoctrinating the truths of the everlasting Gospel.

A hymn having been sung by the choir, Mr. Barto proceeded to remark that a necessary qualification for Sabbath School teaching was scholarship—a theoretical and practical knowledge of the Bible—an ability to inspire in the hearts of children a love for God's truths. The teacher should be a man of living piety, that he may exercise not only a conscious, but an unconscious influence for good; a man of prayer, that he may receive strength from on high to assist him in his labors; a man of great faith, that he may rely on the promises as they are set forth in the Gospel; a man earnest in seeking the conversion of souls, that he may be blessed by God in the discharge of his duties.

Singing by the choir.

Rev. J. D. Glenn said that in discoursing upon the subject assigned him, namely, the Duties of the Sabbath School teacher, it might be profitable to enquire, in order to understand the nature of those duties, what is the work contemplated by the Sabbath School? He answered this question by saying that it was an instrument in the keeping of the Great Head of the Church to build up his own Kingdom in the world, and, therefore, an auxiliary to the grand design of the Church, the evangelization of the world. The duties of the Sabbath School teacher implied more than mere head knowledge; but, also, to an eminent degree, that knowledge which is taught of God and his son, Jesus Christ. A duty, moreover, that implies an earnest effort to secure the conversion of children. The children occupy a large place in the economy of God. The Bible everywhere contemplates the conversion of children, and the pronounced by the Bible upon those who labor to train up and feed the lambs of the flock with food everlasting, should be regarded as powerful incentive to a faithful discharge of the teacher's duties. Prayer, study and labor around the fireside circle of his scholars, enter into the duties of the teacher, in connection with his more public labors as the school room. The speaker closed with a feeling tribute to his early Sabbath School teacher.

After music by the choristers, Mr. Gilbert addressed the audience on the subject of the the Preparation work of the School teacher. A special preparation, said the speaker, was fundamental, vital and absolutely necessary in order to be a successful teacher. This preparation consists of a knowledge of childhood, a knowledge of God's Word, and a knowledge of teaching. It should precede the installment into office of the teacher, and therefore, there should be in every religious community a Sabbath School Normal Class: the design of which is to prepare persons for the position of Sabbath School teachers. The lecturer dwelt with much force upon this topic of his address. He regarded that a great deal of the so-called teaching in our Sabbath Schools at present was folly, if not an abomination in the sight of God.

To the qualified teacher he recommended special preparation, during the week for the coming Sabbath. The following plans was suggested—1 Memorize your lesson, 2 Find parallel passages, 3 Make an analysis of your lesson, 4 Seek out illustrations, 5 Ponder and pray over your preparation.

The Convention adjourned until Friday morning, 9 o'clock. Dr. Marks pronounced the benediction.

The Convention re-assembled at the same place at the appointed hour, and was opened with prayer by Rev. Shields. In the absence of the President, Capt. Campbell, Vice President, was called to the chair.

A large number of Sabbath School scholars was present from the different churches in Beaver. Mr. Gilbert, conductor of exercises, resolved the Convention into a Sabbath School Institute, and proceeded to conduct recitations of Infant Classes by means of the blackboard and maps, regarding this method as the best means of inculcating God's truth into the hearts and minds of little children.

Mr. Barto exhibited his method of opening schools. The exercises of the morning were of a practical character, and seemed to be highly appreciated by an attentive audience, adjourned until the afternoon.

Convention met at two o'clock. Prayer by Rev. Weber, R. R. Bradford Esq., in the chair.

Mr. Gilbert continued to drill classes as in the morning session, illustrating methods by which the senior classes of the Sabbath School should be taught.

It should be noted that the members of the association were greatly indebted to Revs. Shields, Taylor, Bracken, Lowary, McIlyar, Critchlow Glenn, Prof. Taylor of Beaver Seminary, and others, for many valuable suggestions and timely remarks made during the progress of the several sessions. It should, also, be remarked that the proceedings were frequently interspersed with music by the excellent choir of the Presbyterian and Methodist churches of Beaver. Indeed this was an important element in the success which attended the high anticipations formed for the convention by special request.

On motion of Rev. Lowary, the following Committee was appointed. Rev. J. D. Glenn, Chairman; Prof. E. E. Taylor, James M. Smith, Esq., Joseph Pumpleton, Esq., Mr. Shallenberger. On motion of Rev. Shields, Rev. B. C. Critchlow was requested to prepare an Address and deliver the same before the Beaver Co. S. S. Association at the annual meeting in October.

On motion meetings in the interest of the S. S. cause were recommended to be held in Darlington and Hookstown at such times as the Executive Committee may hereafter designate.

On motion, the Recording Secretary was requested to procure a minute book, and record the Constitution of the Association, and the minutes of this meeting.

On motion the Secretary was requested to furnish an abstract of the proceedings of this Convention to the religious press of Pittsburg and to the Beaver Co. papers for publication.

On motion the annual meeting of the Beaver Co. S.S. Association will be held in New Brighton, Thursday, Oct. 10th, 1867.

Thanks, by a rising vote, were tendered to the speakers and lecturers for their valuable services, to the choir for their musical entertainment and to the citizens of Beaver for their generous hospitality.

After singing the doxology and pronouncing the benediction, the Convention adjourned.

Declination.

Wallace's Run, May 9th, 1867.

Mr. Editor: Dear Sir—I notice my name announced in the Beaver Argus as a candidate for the Office of County Treasury, and I wish, through the same medium, to tender to my friends my sincere thanks for this manifestation of their kindness. Fully recognizing the justice of the Soldiers' claim upon the people, I cannot entertain the idea of being a candidate at this time. C. P. WALLACE.

Admission to Grand Combination 50c. Children 25.

It is no vain boast to assert, that in all that can render a place of public amusement recherche, interesting and instructive, this stands pre-eminently above any similar organization of the age. The performing school numbers

Thirty Lady and Gentleman Artists

Brilliant and finished representatives of all that is charming, intrepid and graceful in the modern phrases of Arenac exploits.

THE ZOOLOGICAL COLLECTION,

Is truly attractive and pleasing feature containing as it does, Animals from every quarter and portion of the habitable globe, and, of every species, from the noble "King of the Forrest" to the most diminutive of the Monkey tribe, and birds and fowls without number. This department rendered still more interesting by the performance of

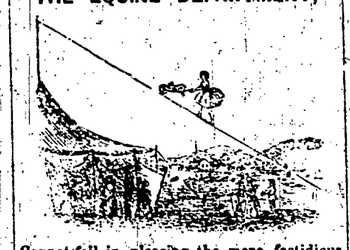
THE LION QUEEN SIGNORITA EUGENE

Who at each exhibition demonstrates her complete control over the wild denizens of the forest by entering the cages of the Lions, Tigars and Bears and subjecting them to obeyance as though they were household pets; the only lady who ever has, or in all human probability ever will attempt a feat so daring and intrepid. The musical department embraces

STARY and PARSON'S BRASS and STRING BANDS

Of fifteen solo performers that acknowledge no superiors in the artistic rendition of true melody and soul stirring music.

THE EQUINE DEPARTMENT,



Cannot fail in pleasing the more fastidious and critical connisseur of that noble animal, the horse, and in truth the entire tout ensemble is as complete as lavish expenditure and years of experience could make it, nothing having been left undone to render it

D. SINGLETON,
may16'67. Register.

The Washington Life Insurance Co of New York

Possesses a combination of desirable features which no other organization can claim. Its system of business is preeminently adapted to benefit the holders of its policies.

So say Henry H. Vandyke, U S Assistant Treasurer of New York, and twelve others, leading Bankers and business men, all ranking high among the solid men of the nation.

Jay Cooke, of Philadelphia, and seventeen others, men of the very first standing, have expressed their high approval of the "The Washington," and authorize the use of their names as references.

Rev. B. W. Gorham the Agent of "The Washington" is now taking applications from such as wish to insure with this Co. and will be happy to present the high endorsements which it has received both New York and Philadelphia, and to explain the peculiar features by which it is securing the unanimous and enthusiastic admiration of those who have taken policies in it.

Hear what your neighbors, the solid men of Pittsburgh, say of "The Washington."

I take pleasure in expressing my confidence in the Washington Life Ins. Co. of New York. The gentlemen in charge of it are of the first standing, and I consider it every way what such an institution should be.
(Signed) Thos. S. Blair.

I take pleasure in concurring in the above statement.
(Signed) J. H. Shoenberger.

I also concur in the above statement.
(Signed) Allen Kramer.

From my personal acquaintance with Mr Cyrus Curtiss, the President of the Washington Life Ins. Co. of New York, and from my knowledge of sundry of its officers, I have no hesitation in expressing the utmost confidence both in the soundness and stability of the institution, and in the integrity and judiciousness of its management
(Signed) C. E. Swope,
Rector of Trinity church, Pitts. Pa.

Having been long acquainted with the President of the Washington Life Ins. Co. of New York, Cyrus Curtiss, Esq. and having a thorough knowledge of the Co.'s organization, its plan of operation, its financial condition, and the character and standing of its officers in general, I cannot but state that it is entitled to the highest confidence of the public.
(Signed) Calvin Adams,
Novelty Works, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Having made satisfactory investigation as to the standing and workings of the Washington Life Ins. Co. of New York, I have no hesitation in saying it is eminently worthy the confidence and patronage of the public.
(Signed) Thos. J. Harkinson,
Pittsburgh, Pa.

I concur in all the above statement.
(Signed) B. L. Fahnestock,
Of B. L. Fahnestock & Co., Pitts., Pa.

I also concur in the above statement of Thos. J. Harkinson, Esq.
(Signed) A. K. Bell,
Pastor of Sandusky st. Baptist church, Allegheny City.

Having examined with some care the organization, operations and financial condition of the Washington Life Insurance Co. of New York, I take pleasure in recommending it to public confidence and favor.
(Signed) H. Miller,
Pastor of Smithfield st. M. E. Church,
Pittsburgh, Pa.

Mr. Gorham will continue some days in this vicinity. Persons desiring to see him will call or leave name and address at the residence of Prof. Taylor in Beaver.

ning with Lightning.—On Monday ing during the storm that prevailed in vicinity, the house of Capt. Isaac Walters, Industry, was struck with lightening. The was somewhat damaged but none of inmates injured.

Epitaphs.—In an old graveyard at Baton ge in Louisiana, is a tombstone with this scription: "He lived a Democrat and died Christian." If that was not a death-bed epitaph, we are at a loss to know what to call it.

Advertisers are respectively requested to nd in their advertisements by Monday noon. This will enable us to get the Argus into the mail which leaves here at 1:30 P. M., on Tuesday. Compliance with this request will oblige many of the subscribers to offices which are supplied with the paper but two days per week.

Memorial.—The Rev. B. W. Gorham of Philadelphia, an eloquent and impressive speaker, delivered a lecture this evening in the M. E. Church of this place, on the subject of Temperance. Lecture to commence at 7½, and the proceeds to be applied to the Sabbath School fund. As this is a subject slightly interesting to all, and as the speaker is said to be competent to discuss his subject well, it is to be hoped that a large audience may be present.

Monument to Mexican Soldiers.—A committee, of which Governor Geary is the head, has been appointed for the "erection of a monument to the memory of citizens of Pennsylvania who were slain or lost their lives in the war with Mexico." The monument will be erected on the public grounds at Harrisburg, and this committee are authorized to contract for the building of it. The Legislature appropriated six thousand dollars toward its erection. Col T. J. Power of this county is a member of this committee.

Obstinate to Law.—An individual from a neighboring village found one of his "grunters" in the hands of our Borough authorities, the other day. Incensed at this interferance with his rights, he permitted his passion to run wild for a few minutes in denouncing the officer who had his shoat in custody. This was borne for some time, until finally he was requested to accompany the abused officer to the Burgess, where his anger subsided, and a better condition of mind took its place. After paying the costs of "gathering" up his pig, keeping it for a few days, and advertising it, he retired in peace, concluding, we suppose, to keep his stock within the limits of his own premises in the future.

A Bold Robbery.—On last Sunday morning at about 2 o'clock, Mr. Wm. H. McKenzie, of Industry, heard a noise in his kitchen, and on going thither discovered two men within it.—Seizing a chair he knocked one of them down, but the other in turn attacked him, and dealt him a couple of heavy blow which for the time being so stunned him, that both of the rascals made their escape. On investigation it was discovered that before they were heard, they had been to his bedroom and taken $260 in money from his pantaloons pocket. No clue to the robbers.

The Buckeye Mower.—The great Manufacturing House of C. Aultman & Co. has attained a world-wide celebrity—a reputation based on the substantial excellence and unparalleled success of the Buckeye Reaping and Mowing Machine. We have seen it stated that the number of Buckeyes in use by the farmers of the United States is greater than that of any other machine. At the great trial tournaments of the Reaper family the Buckeye has won the brightest laurels.—Its triumphs speak volumes. The reader will find other interesting facts concerning the Buckeye in an advertisement in this paper.

"The Universe Eternal."—We have referred on one or two occasions to a lecture delivered at Massillon, Ohio, some time ago, by a member of the Canton bar, on the "Eternity of the Universe," and in the same connection stated that Dr. Dempsey of this place had been called upon to review and reply to, it before the same audience and at the same place. He did this on Thursday evening of last week, and how successfully this was done, we let the Massillon Independent, the 8th of May tell our readers. It says:

Rev. Dr. Dempsey.—Being absent from home, we had not the pleasure of hearing Dr. Dempsey's lecture, in Madison Hall, on last Thursday evening, reviewing Mr. Grant's lecture on "The Eternity of the Universe," but we hear it spoken of by every one as a masterly production, and a most triumphant vindication of the truth of Revelation, as it relates to the creation of the world, the origin of man, and his ultimate destiny. Those who believe as Dr. Dempsey does on these subjects, are enthusiastic in praise of the lecture, and those who think differently nevertheless ascribe to the distinguished lecturer marked ability and great research.

Those who heard the lecture say it is wonderful that the Dr. took up every point in Mr. Grant's lecture, presented his propositions fairly, discussed them elaborately, and yet did it orally, never once even referring to a scrap of manuscript during the whole lecture of an hour and a half. We are pleased to learn that the Dr. had a very intelligent audience, many from Canton, who listened to him with rapt and undivided attention.

The Washington Life Insurance Company of New York.—We call special attention to the advertisement of this Company in another column.

We confess ourselves much pleased with the working plan of this Company, and the endorsements of its officers and its whole character are of the very highest order.

So much confidence have we in it that we have recommended to the agent of applying for a policy in it ourselves.

Rev. Mr. Gorham, the agent, is spending a few days in town on a visit to his friend Prof. Taylor, and will be calling on our citizens upon the business of his agency. We bespeak for him a respectful hearing.

A Free Fight.—On last Thursday night, the combative organs of two "knights of the razor" became excited in the village of Bridgewater. One of these parties, named Robinson, represented the Borough of Beaver, and with a razor in one of his "dippers" "went for" Bruin, the representative of Bridgewater.—Bruin in turn was armed with what vulgar people call a "shovel," and by a dexterous handling of the weapon, he succeeded in bringing it down "kerchug" on Robinson's "upper story." By this time they both became a little less belligerant and concluded on suspending hostilities, on the "rough and tumble" plan at least. The next morning the battle was renewed by Bruin, who had his antagonist arrested and taken before Justice J. C. Wilson. It cost about $3,50 to get the matter adjusted.

Finally Committed.—At the adjourned court held here on last Monday, John Bird and Thomas Whittaker, who were brought over from Pittsburgh and lodged in jail some time since, on a charge of having been concerned in the Sproul murder, were brought up for a hearing.

William Linn, John Coyle and William Owens, Esqrs., appeared as counsel for the prisoners, and E. Williams, Esq., and District Attorney Crumrine for the Commonwealth.—Mr. Williams was proceeding with the testimony on part of the Commonwealth, when he was interrupted by Mr. Linn who stated that upon full consultation among themselves and with their clients, they had concluded to waive the hearing.

Quite a number of witnesses were in attendance, and among these the sister of Mr. Sproul, who was tied in bed, and who it is said indentifies the prisoners. The accused having waived their right to a hearing they were finally committed for trial.—Washington Reporter.

County Auctioneer.—At the session of the Legislature of 1861 an act was passed authorizing the Governor to appoint one person to sell goods by auction in the county of Beaver and giving him a monopoly of the business Mr. Aaron Moore, of this Borough, was in 1862 appointed to the office. His term which was five years in duration having recently expired the Attorney General decided upon a application for his re-appointment, that the act was limited in its operation by its terms to the appointment of a single person and thus no new appointment could be made under it.

In conformity with petitions numerously signed an act was passed by the late Legislature providing that any person paying to the Treasurer of this county $25 for the use of the Commonwealth, should receive a license to sell goods by auction. This bill, not conforming to the views of Governor Geary, is not yet signed and will probably be vetoed when the next Legislature meets.

As a consequence we have at present no local auction law for Beaver county.

Rev. Williams' Lecture.—The lecture delivered by Rev. Williams in the Bridgewater M. E. Church on last Thursday evening was not so well attended as was desirable; those however, who were present, had the gratification of listening to a very able and effective address. The subject—"The Christian orator on Mars' Hill"—is a very interesting one, and Mr. Williams has evidently prepared his lecture with a great deal of care. It will be delivered at other points in this vicinity; and as the proceeds are to be applied to a worthy object—the building of a church in New Brighton—it is to be hoped that the public generally will avail themselves of an opportunity of hearing the lecture, and in doing so, likewise contribute something toward the erection of a house of worship in a neighboring village.

Jefferson Davis.

Richmond, May 8.—It is understood that Chief Justice Chase will arrive here on Monday. Mr. Chandler, Prosecuting Attorney, has not yet arrived. U. S. Marshal Underwood has received the following writ, and leaves without for Norfolk to-morrow:

The President of the United States to Brig. Gen. Henry S. Burton, and to any person or persons having custody of Jefferson Davis, greeting:

We command you that you have the body of Jefferson Davis by you imprisoned, detained as it is said, together with the cause of said imprisonment and detention, by whatsoever name the said Jeff. Davis may be called or charged, before our Circuit Court of the United States for the District of Virginia, at next term thereof, at Richmond, in said District, on the second Monday in May, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-seven, at opening of Court that day, to do and receive what shall then and there be considered concerning said Jeff. Davis.

Witness Salmon P. Chase, our Chief Justice of Supreme Court, United States, this first day of May, 1867. W. H. Barry, Clerk Circuit Court United States, District of Virginia.

Mr. Davis when he arrives on Sunday will still be in military custody and not be produced in court till Monday. It is stated he will be kept in Libby prison, where apartments will be assigned him.

Jeff Davis in Richmond.

Special dispatch to the Pittsburgh Commercial.

Richmond, May 11, 1867.—Jeff. Davis arrived at six P. M. this afternoon, on the steamboat John Sylvester from Ft. Monroe.—He is under the personal charge of Gen. Burton, commandant of the Fortress. There was no guard with them, Davis being on parole of honor to Gen. Burton. Dr. Cooper, surgeon of the post, and physician to Davis, Major McElrath Quartermaster, Hon. Robert Ould, one of Davis's counsels, Harrison, his private secretary during the war, and Mrs. Davis, are among the party from Fortress Monroe. They are sojourning at the Spottswood House, where Capt. Willard & Co., the proprietors, have provided them comfortable quarters.

A large crowd were assembled at the wharf, but nothing occurred to require the presence of either a military guard or a police force.—Shortly after the boat arrived at the wharf, General Burton with his prisoner, and the rest of the party took carriages and were driven to the hotel, and the crowd quietly dispersed.

The United States Marshal and one of his deputies were at Fortress Monroe to take Davis into custody, but General Burton refused to give him up, alleging that it was his duty to deliver him to court on Monday next in person. Davis looks thin and feeble, but appears to be in good spirits. He laughs and freely converses with his friends and those who may be introduced to him.

The case will positively be heard on Monday, and it is stated that in the event of Davis being released by Judge Underwood, under the writ, he will be again placed under arrest on an indictment of treason.

NEW MILLINERY GOODS!

HATS, FLOWERS, RIBBONS, &c

Having secured the Agency for the Empire Sewing Machine!

I respectfully solicit an examination of the same by the public.

This Machine is constructed on a new principle of mechanism, possessing many rare and valuable improvements, having been examined by the most profound experts, and pronounced to be simplicity and perfection combined

In a mechanical point of view, the advantages we claim for the "Empire Machine," are—

1st.—The method of driving the Needle Bar by a compound crank, which produces the same action as heretofore obtained by means of a Cam; but in a more durable and noiseless manner.

2d.—We use a rotating shaft above the table, and thus are enabled to give all the room required under the arm; without detriment to the durability of Machines; having a bearing directly over the Needle Bar.

3d.—Our Feed Wheel is a friction feed, and so constructed that there is but one joint in transmitting the motion from the rock shaft to the wheel, and unlike all others, cannot be effected by oil or dust.

4th.—The Rock Shaft that works the Feed motion also drives the Shuttle. The bearings of this Shaft and Centres are hardened steel and adjustable, so that we can take up the lost motion at will.

The following are the principal objections urged against Sewing Machines:

1. Excessive fatigue to the operator.
2. Liability to get out of order.
3. Expense, trouble, and loss of time in repairing.
4. Incapacity to sew every description of material.
5. Disagreeable noise while in operation.

The Empire Sewing Machine is Exempt from all these Objections.

It has a straight needle, perpendicular action, makes the LOCK or SHUTTLE STITCH, which will NEITHER RIP NOR RAVEL, and is alike on both sides; performs perfect sewing on every description of material, from Leather to the finest Nansook Muslin, with cotton, linen, or silk thread, from the coarsest to the finest number.

ITHEMS, FELLS, BINDS, BRAIDS, TUCKS, QUILTS, PLAITS, and GATHERS.

Having neither CAM NOR COG WHEEL, and the least possible friction, it runs as smooth as glass, and is mphatically a Noiseless Machin

Matilda Coughey by her next friend, Wm. Cunningham vs. Silas W. W. Coughey

In the Court of Common Pleas of Beaver county. No. 1 of Nov. Term, 1866. Libel for divorce

To Silas W. W. Coughey, the above named respondent: You are hereby notified to be and appear in your proper person before our judges at Beaver, at the County Court of Common Pleas there to be held on the second Monday of June, A. D 1867, to show cause if any you have, why the said Matilda Coughey shall not be divorced from the bonds of matrimony contracted with you.

J. S. LITTELL, Sh'ff.

Sh'f's Office, Beaver, May 7, '67.

CONVERSION OF 7 3-10s.

In reply to numerous inquiries in regard to the manner of converting the August 7 3-10s into the new 5-20 Gold Coupon Bond we make the following statement for the benefit of the holders of 7 3-10s, who may not be informed:

The Government computes the interest on both bonds in currency from the date of the maturity of the last coupon, allowing seven and three-tenths on the 7 3-10s, and charging six per cent on the 5-20s. For example: you sent to Washington $1,000 7 3-10 Bond which reaches there on

May 1st	$1,000
71 days interest (From Feb. 15.)	14 80
5-20s	$1,000
110 days interest (from Jan1st)	19 50
(This is counted at 365 days per annum)	1,019 50
Allowed for 7 3-10,	1,014 80
You pay Government,	4 70

It will be seen by this that the Gold interest is given as currency, which, is of itself a profit to the party converting the 7 3-10s of nearly eight dollars per $1,000, aside from the fact that at the present rate of Gold, the 5-20s pay over 8 per cent. per annum.

We are converting the 7 3-10s on much better terms than the Government, as the present buying and selling rates enables us to allow the holder of the 7 3-10s a better figure than has yet been offered by any one as a commission.

We also exchange the new 5-20 Gold for the older Series of 7 3-10s on the most favorable terms.

Parties exchanging through us, in addition they to getting much better terms than they can from the Government, will have their 5-20s delivered to them immediately, thus saving delay. We also register any bonds sent to us without charge. On all bonds sent us by express we pay charges both ways, and send bonds promptly as directed.

GETTYSBURG ASYLUM

FOR INVALID SOLDIERS.

INCORPORATED by Act of Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, March 8, 1867.

The Board of Supervisors appointed by the above Corporation to carry out the objects of the act of incorporation, respectfully announce to the public that the Legislature of Pennsylvania has authorized the raising of funds for the erection, establishment, and maintenance of an Asylum for Invalid Soldiers of the late war, to be built on the Battle-field of Gettysburg, and as an inducement to patriotic citizens to contribute to this benevolent object, have empowered the Corporation to distribute amongst the subscribers such articles of value and interest, from association with the late war, or any moneys, effects, property, or estate, real or personal, whatever, in this State or elsewhere, at such time or upon such terms and in such way and manner whatsoever, as to them shall seem fit, any laws of this Commonwealth to the contrary notwithstanding.

The enterprise is cordially recommended by the following named well-known gentlemen:

Major General George G. Meade,
Ex-Governor Andrew G. Curtin,
Major General Galusha Pennypacker,
" " F. M. Gregory,
" " John R. Brooke,
" " Charles H. T Collis,
" " H'Y J. Madill,
" " Jas. L. Selfridge,
Brigadier General James A. Beaver,
" " Horatio G. Sickles,
" " Joseph F. Knipe,
" " Wm. J. Bolton,
" " Sam'l M. Zulick,
" " John K. Murphy,
" " John F. Ballier,
" " T. F. McCoy,
" " R. E. Winslow,
" " Henry Pleasants,
" " J. P. S. Gobin,
" " J. M. Campbell,
" " Thos. M. Walker,
" " W. Cooper Tally,
" " D. M. M. Gregg,
Colonel F. S. Stumbaugh.

The site for the institution (thirty acres) has already been purchased, and it is hoped that the good work may commence before midsummer.

Subscriptions will be received at the office of the Association, No. 1125 Chestnut street, Philadelphia, on and after Monday, the 6th day of May, 1867.

For each subscription of five dollars a certificate will be issued, which will entitle the holder to such article of value as may be awarded to its number.

The first distribution of awards will be made immediately upon the receipt of 80,000 subscriptions, of $5 each.

The distribution will be public, and under the direct supervision of the Corporators.

Persons at a distance are requested to remit their subscriptions (when practicable) by Post office money order, or registered letter, to insure prompt delivery.

Direct all letters to

J. D HOFFMAN,
SECRETARY BOARD OF SUPERVISORS,
Box 1481, P. O., Philadelphia.

The following is a schedule of the awards to be made under the first distribution. The items of Diamonds and other precious stones were purchased from citizens of the State during the war, and their genuineness is certified to by Messrs. Henle & Bros., the most extensive diamond importers in the country, and by J. Herman, diamond setter, New York.
